Ahh...summer. No school. Shorts and tee shirts instead of sweaters and mittens. Lazy days by the pool. What's not to love? Well, for our horses...plenty!

First, there are the bugs. No horse likes to stand around and be bombarded by flies. They constantly stomp their feet, which can cause leg and hoof problems, and swish their tales, which surely must get tiresome after a while. It can make grazing next to impossible, and horses will often hang out in the shade of a tree where there is nothing to eat, instead of munching the green grass in the sun. And, since we know how much our horses love to eat, we know they must really be unhappy to leave pasture unattended. It leaves us wondering what the best solution is. Fly sprays last for only minutes. Fly sheets cover only so much, and after baking in the sun for a while, horses can get quite hot. Night turnout is generally the answer but there are still issues that complicate this decision.

With night turnout the flies are gone but there are still mosquitos. I know I hate seeing huge welts on my horse's belly in the morning, and the threat of West Nile or other disease is a concern. The summer is also plagued by pop-up thunder showers. A tall animal standing on metal shoes makes a pretty good lightening rod. In some areas of our region, we also have to watch out for coyotes. And then there is the stress of just not being able to watch over our animals. What if a fence gets knocked down or a horse rolls and gets his legs stuck? Comfortable in our beds with the air conditioning humming, we may clue until morning that something is amiss. It's enough to give us nightmares.

Summer is also prime horse show season, but there is no shade at X, and galloping crosscountry under the noonday sun leaves both horse and human dripping with sweat. Horses, in general, prefer a crisp winter day to the dog days of summer. Their bodies just function better. We, as their caretakers, must have their best interest in mind, even if that means skipping an event we paid good money to attend or sitting out that afternoon ride. If we do deem it okay to work them, we must make sure they cool down, proving plenty of water to drink and hosing them off as necessary. Considering adding electrolytes to their feed or water to encourage them to drink and replenish needed minerals.

And while we're paying such good attention to our horses, let's not forget ourselves. We need to keep hydrated, and heat stroke is a real concern considering how athletic riding is. Watch out for the signs of overheating in yourself, your friends, and fellow competitors (not to mention volunteers and show officials). These include fever and excessive sweating, which then can lead to chills; nausea/vomiting; mental fatigue, which can manifest as confusion, irritability, or lack of focus; and dry mouth that isn't quenched by drinking. And don't forget the sunscreen.

So get out there and enjoy wearing flip flops (just not in the barn) and maybe top off that water bucket while you're at it.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The ESDCTA Board of Trustees, recognizing that the world around us, whether our equine community or the larger, more global community, continues to evolve. Like all organizations and businesses, we are buffeted back and forth by the waves of change and must meet the challenges that are crucial to our existence and the needs of our members.

It is halfway through the year and we are, as an organization, looking inward and assessing where our strengths and weaknesses lie. The board is in the process of a SWOT analysis – Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats – among many categories, the most important being membership. Our board members have stepped up to the plate to identify these four areas, understanding how important a self-analysis is, despite having careers, horses , family and other obligations that leave very little time to devote to an organization.

And that is where, half way through the year, we see the most challenging threat facing the organization: volunteerism. It really is not about whether we keep the newsletter or Omnibus as hard copy or just available on the web site, or whether or not we raise membership fees, or any of the other hot topics important to you, our members. It is about who will step up to the plate and help run our organization to, not only maintain its opportunities and efficiencies for our members, but to meet the evolving challenges taking us into the future.

As your President for the last two and a half years, I have called many of you personally, have sent out pleas via this forum and Constant Contact, and have watched other Board members also reach out to ask for your assistance. Some of you have risen to the occasion, others, understandably, have not had the time to devote to ESDCTA.

I cannot stop making this plea; however, when I believe our membership continues to value the programs and services ESDCTA provides to its membership and to the region. Many of our Board members have been on the Board in some capacity or other, or have worked on one of the many committees, for years. Not just the paltry six years I have been on the board, but for YEARS.

Gary Maholic, Diane Engler, Terry Masters, and others on this current board are veterans who won't let this EveryReady bunny stop ticking. And not only does ESDCTA keep on ticking, it continues to improve and answer the needs, concerns, and suggestions of our members, trying to evolve and progress.

These Board members are the same as each and every one of you reading this article. They have other jobs, family obligations, equestrian goals that cut into the amount of time that they have for volunteering. But they volunteer anyway, doing what they can.

Twice a year, NPR radio stations throughout the country, stop their usual programming to send out a plea for donations from its members and other listeners. It's a marathon, 24/7 of being bombarded for donations. It does get a little tedious, despite a good cause.

I do not want to be tedious or annoying, but ESDCTA

is also a good cause and I am not asking for monetary donations. I am asking that you donate a couple of hours each month, if that, to a committee.

It isn't as taxing as you might think. Most of our committees now "meet" on-line, so you don't have to leave your living room. They do their business via emails and phone and web conferencing. While they may still have to devote an hour a month to such a "meeting," it is convenient, requires no travel, and gets the job done.

Please look over the various committees outlined in this newsletter's contact section and call one of the chairpersons for more information. You do not have to commit, just find out if there is a suitable committee for you that could benefit from your involvement a couple of hours a month at the most. No experience necessary – just an interest. Not only will you be helping ESDCTA be the best it can be, but you will be rewarded with new friends and learn a great deal about horses and the equine industry and community, which is why we are all members in the first place.

ESDCTA needs you.

"The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others." — Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi (1869-1948), Indian Political And Spiritual Leader

ESDCTA Statement of Purpose

PACKING THE TRAILER

By Janice Pellegrino

Ф

You've got an event coming up. You're an organized person. You know what you and your horse both need to wear and it's all been cleaned. You're ready to go, right? Not quite. You may want to consider a few more items to help things run a little smoother.

Item number 1: clothes for you. Let's start with those white breeches. Odds are pretty good that your horse is going to happily grind a mouthful of yummy grass into a lovely bubble of slime. Being the gentleman that he is, he'll want to keep a clean kisser and you'll make the perfect napkin. Protect those jods by wearing a layer on top. Oversized capri's work well. Are you sure you'll be wearing your dressage jacket? The weather may turn so hot that jackets are excused. Be sure that you have an appropriate top. It must have sleeves and a collar. No tanks or tees. Then for the other extreme. Do you have a suitable rain jacket? You don't want to show in anything that is not conservative, is bulky, or flapping about to the point of distraction. Tack stores have see-through rain jackets designed to be worn directly over hunt coats. Speaking of rain, if you get wet during your dressage test, you'll be stuck in those wet breeches for a couple of hours unless you've packed a spare pair. Plan an outfit for walking your stadium and cross country courses. No, you are not trying to look like you should be modeling on a Paris runway. However, riding boots are usually not that friendly to feet on long strolls over varying terrain. Sneakers often get wet due to water crossings or damp grass. Paddock boots may be a good choice, but you may find having a spare pair of socks a welcome treasure. If the weather is cool enough for a jacket, select one with a zipper. A pull on hoodie type is all or nothing and may not be a good choice as you warm up on your walk. Don't forget the sunscreen. When your competitive day is over, you'll feel more refreshed if you can change into something clean and comfortable, so pack accordingly.

Item number 2: clothes for your horse. Horses generate quite a lot of body heat. If you are showing during blanket season, choose a light sheet for traveling. In any season, coming off cross country, your horse is likely to be sweaty and need a rinsing. Have a knit sheet available. Summer is fly season. Your horse may spend hours standing in the trailer. He may stomp quite a bit as the local insects try to make a meal out of him. A fly sheet, fly boots and fly spray will allow him to relax during the day.

Item number 3: tack. A back-up halter is a must. Go shopping in your basement and put a spare bridle together. If you have a spare with you, you're not going to need it. If you don't, chances are good that your horse will somehow stand on and break the reins or the metal buckle on the nose band will fatigue and break. Stirrup leathers also have a tendency to break at the most inopportune time, such as during warm-up. Keep an extra by your spare bridle.

Item number 4: performance equipment. Most events have now adopted the format that the competitors go to crosscountry directly from stadium. Horse and rider usually wear cross-country attire. However, cross-country horse boots are generally very protective, and Dobbin may get a bit sloppy in stadium if he learns that brushing the rails is no bother. Consider using boots that are more appropriate for stadium jumping. Change to a more protective model prior to heading out to crosscountry. Draw string nylon bags, like those found in stores that sell sneakers, are perfect for carrying boots to the jumping areas. They're also handy for carrying water bottles or a copy of the omnibus that includes the dressage test. Studs can be quite useful, but they are not benign. Consult with your trainer and farrier prior to using them. Air vests are not required, but they are a worthwhile investment. They provide a layer of protection up to the bottom of the helmet and down to the base of the spine.

A basic first aid kit can limit the consequences of an injury. Nicks and scrapes are not unusual. They can turn into a bigger issue if not promptly cleaned. Stock your kit with a small bottle of iodine scrub, a sponge reserved for cleaning scrapes, a tube of triple antibiotic ointment, a cutting from a roll of sterile cotton, a disposable cotton leg wrap, safety scissors, and a roll of VetWrap. If that's not enough to meet your needs until you get home, it's probably time to involve the vet. Put the items in zip-lock bags and a plastic container to keep them clean. Water tanks are great, but they may not be adequate in size, especially if it's hot. Five gallon plastic gas type cans are commonly used, but they can be a bit heavy when full. A few well-rinsed gallon containers, as might come from pre-made used tea, can prove quite handy. They're easier to lift and can be used for pouring cooling water directly on a horse that has just completed cross-country.

Item number 4: creature comforts. Nylon camping chairs take up little room and can provide you encouragement to take a few minutes to recharge yourself. Restore your power by having plenty of snacks and drinks available. Consider a camping toilet for your dressing room so that you can skip the joys of the porta-potties.

Item number 5: help. Most importantly, bring a friend, even if he or she is also competing, they'll provide at least moral support. A teenager from the barn where you ride may enjoy coming along for the learning experience. Throw in lunch and maybe a bit of pocket money and you can have yourself a groom.

An lastly, there's no sense packing your trailer if you have nowhere to go. Check out the Omnibus. Some activities are organized by ESDCTA others are run by other groups. Upcoming events include cross-country schooling days at the Horse Park of New Jersey, which are on July 1, July 30, and October 13. . The Eventing Championships with open schooling horse trials are scheduled for September 15. ESDCTA will be hosting USEA recognized (most levels) horse trials on October 5 & 6. Levels from starter through preliminary will be available for your enjoyment. Team competition will also be available at the October event. Mark your calendars!

MEAGAN GARNER

By: Rebecca Kuc

Meagan has been riding with Jill Kuc at Hidden Creek Equestrian Center since the facility opened eight years ago. Since then, Meagan has competed Dressage through ESDCTA for the past few years. Meagan graduated from Nazereth Area High School in 2008, and went on to Bloomsburg University. She graduated with a degree in Elementary Education from Bloomsburg University in 2012. For the past two summers, Meagan has worked as a counselor at the Lower Nazereth Summer Park Program where she received a lot of experience with kids to help her reach her teaching goals. Currently, Meagan is the 21st CCLC Program Coordinator/Youth Program Coordinator at the Hispanic Center Lehigh Valley in Bethlehem. Meagan organizes all of the after school, summer, and family programming through this center.

Although Meagan doesn't own her own horse, she currently competes a lesson horse at Hidden Creek: an off the track Thoroughbred named Duncan, owned by Christine Kuntzman. Meagan is showing Duncan at First Level this season and is hoping to be able to go for Year End or an Achievement Ribbon through ESDCTA. Meagan is an ESDCTA Bronze Medalist and participated on the ESDCTA Youth Team her last year as a Jr/Yr at the Region 1 Youth Team Competition in Leesburg, VA. Her team was 4th Place at Region 1 Team in 2010. Meagan was also Reserve Champion in both 2010 and 2012 at the NPASS Championships for a Combined Training Division. In 2011, she was Third Place Training Level Adult Amateur at the NPASS Championships on Duncan!

Meagan hopes to continue to improve on her dressage skills and also eventually wants to get more into combined training because she loves to jump. Her favorite part of riding is that it's something she can focus on and just enjoy and she can use riding to take her mind off of other things. She also loves all the awesome people/ friends she gets to ride with!

Pictures are from 2010 on Masquerade at NPASS Championships and from the Youth Team after a mini-tornado hit!
